GERMAN SPY SCHOOL EXPOSED.

PARIS, France.—The Temps publishes the following from Geneva: "A military court here has sentenced Marie Therese le Philpponat, a native of Cahors, France, to serve a month's imprisonment and pay a fine of $200 on the ground that she is a German spy. She told the court she had been arrested at Lille by Germans and taken to Antwerp where she was compelled, under threats that her family would be menaced if she refused, to practise espionage."

"The prisoner testified that a school for spies, with numerous pupils, had been established at Antwerp. She was sent, she said, to Leopoldshoehe, where she received instructions from 1st Lieut. Michel, judge of the district. Afterward she went to northern France. At Cherbourg she made the acquaintance of officers. She also went to England and transmitted by mail information concerning movements of the French and Belgian armies and the location of French submarine stations."

Ice Cream From Pure Pasteurized Island Milk and Cream

Island chickens, turkeys and eggs demand a higher price than the same kind of products which come from California and you are willing to pay the difference. Fresh meats and eggs taste better and you feel safer in using them.

Ice Cream made from fresh, island cream is equally superior to that made from California cream, because it tastes better and you feel safer in using it, yet the two are sold at the same price.

The following places use island cream that is fresh, pure and pasteurized

LONDON'S MOST FORMAL PAPER HAS BIRTHDAY

"Gazette" Has Been Published
250 Years; Contains Political Appointments

LONDON, Eng.—The London Gazette, the most austere and formal of all English newspapers, is this month celebrating its 250th birthday.

The vast majority of Londoners have never seen the Gazette, and many live in ignorance even of the existence of such a newspaper. For it is the official organ of the British government, and its circulation is limited to official circles or to those who are willing to pay the fixed price of 25 cents per copy.

In the ordinary course of events, the Gazette is published every Tuesday and Friday, but when occasion arises special supplements are issued at 8 cents each. Since the outbreak of the war several of these supplements have been issued each week, and there has occasionally been sufficient demand from relatives of those mentioned in the official despatches to demand the reprinting of a particular edition.

Contains Appointments.
"Gazette" is an expression frequently used in England to designate that some official statement or action has received the formal sanction implied by publication in the government newspaper. The Gazette is in many cases prescribed by Parliamentary enactment as the appropriate medium for announcements of official acts and appointments. Though the man in the street rarely sees the Gazette, he frequently reads its announcements indirectly, for most of its valuable official information is immediately reproduced in the daily newspapers.

The earliest issue of the official journal goes back to the reign of Charles I, but there is a little diversity of opinion as to the exact date. Some authorities give it as November 7, 1665, while others favor November 14 of the same year.

There are similar publications for Scotland and Ireland, published respectively in Edinburgh and Dublin. The former was first issued in 1690, and the latter in 1711.

KIRKWALL ABLE TO SHELTER 250 MERCHANT SHIPS

LONDON, England.—Kirkwall, where many of the American merchant ships have been taken for examination by the British patrol ships, may be said to have made a sudden leap into fame—as far as the average Londoner is concerned—out of the pages of the American note.

Probably few Londoners more than suspected the existence of Kirkwall until they read about it in the American note. It is a rather obscure Scotch town, although capital of the island county of Orkney, and its population is less than 4000. But it has a magnificent harbor, in which the 250 or so captive ships might all ride safely at anchor at the same time. But when it is remembered that Kirkwall is located 26 miles north of John O'Groats, which is the extreme northern point of Scotland, it is seen how far the harbor is from the ordinary purposes of trade.

The American crews could find no better harbor in which to spend enforced leisure nor better sight-seeing of the antiquarian order. For Kirkwall is envied by the past—cathedral, palace and castle are all of the Middle Ages, and nearby are great Stonehenge circles of an even remoter era. Nowhere are the ancient remains better preserved. Reminders of Scandinavian rule are found in the place-names, Kirkwall itself being a corruption of Kirkjuvagr, the "Bay of the Church."

BREAD PRICE LOWERS; HAMBURG REJOICING

HAMBURG, Germany.—Hamburg is rejoicing that bread at least is declining rather than increasing in price. The authorities who control the bread and flour situation have just ordered that the maximum price for rye bread be reduced from 50 to 44 pennings, and for black bread from 35 to 32 pennings. Further, the weekly flour allowance per person is increased from 150 to 250 grams.

GERMANS RELEASE SIR WILLIAM GOSCHEN'S SON

BERLIN, Germany.—Out of consideration for his father, Sir William Edward Goschen, formerly British ambassador to Germany, the government has authorized the release of Lieut. Gerard Goschen, who was wounded and captured in the early stage of the war in France.

Lieut. Goschen's war experience was brief, as he was wounded and captured immediately after joining his regiment. The wound from which he suffers is in the head and has affected his memory. He has been in a special sanitarium for several months.

Lieut. Goschen was among the British officers who after they had apparently recovered from wounds were selected to undergo solitary confinement in Germany in retaliation for the treatment of officers and crews of German submarines by the British.

Because road patchers are able to accomplish much more work on Sunday when the streets are largely deserted, Charles Clark, head of the road patching gang, kept his men at work yesterday on Queen and Merchant streets.
